
XXII Workshop and Competition for young researchers in the field of statistical physics and condensed matter theory

Workshop: The 22th Workshop will be held in Lviv at the Institute for Condensed Matter Physics on June 16-17, 2022. Its program will include invited lectures of top experts in statistical physics and condensed matter theory, short communications of young researchers and contributed talks of Competition applicants. The 22th Workshop is dedicated to the 50th anniversary of Philip Anderson's article "More is different", which is considered to be the formal beginning of complexity science.

Competition: Institute for Condensed Matter Physics of the National Academy of Sciences of Ukraine announces an annual competition for young researchers in the field of statistical physics and condensed matter theory. The best studies of young researchers will be distinguished by the Competition Committee with Special Individual Awards.

- The applicants should not be older than 35 years of age at the time of applying.
- Only the studies published during the last 5 years can qualify. The submitted studies should not have won any ICMP Awards for young researchers earlier.

The aim of the Workshop and Competition is to promote the studies of young researchers in statistical physics and condensed matter theory as well as to establish scientific relations among young researchers from different scientific centres of Ukraine. The language of the Workshop and Competition is Ukrainian.

Additional information is on the Workshop website: <http://www.icmp.lviv.ua/konkurs/>
